Admission for studying in the winter semester 2022/2023 at Kiel University

Dear Ramneek Kaur Khurana

We acknowledge your application and are pleased to inform you about your admission at the University of Kiel for the winter semester 2022/2023 in the degree programme

AgriGenomics / M.Sc. 1st semester

The present admission is granted under the condition that,

- all your statements in the application for admission form are correct and complete,
- there are no obstacles to your admission according to § 40 Hochschulgesetz des Landes Schleswig-Holstein and do not occur until enrolment.
- under the condition, that you submit your Transcript and BSc Diploma during enrolment

The Master's degree programme AgriGenomics is a purely English-language degree programme.

Ramneek Kaur Khurana is therefore exempt from the usual requirement to provide proof of sufficient German language skills to study at Kiel University.

Enrolment Information

Please first enrol online for the master's program and then follow the instructions in the enrolment information you will receive from us no later than the end of August. Therefore, pay careful consideration to your e-mail inbox at that time. The online portal will be open from 1st of September until 30th of September 2022 and can be reached via the following link. Please use the Google Chrome browser to open the website.

<https://h1-prod-web-all.uv.uni-kiel.de/qisserver/pages/cs/sys/portal/hisinoneStartPage.faces?chco=y&noD-BAction=y&init=y>

If you have not enrolled before the start of the lecture period (17th of October 2022), the present admission will be declared null and void.

The Agrigenomics Department is planning to have the Agrigenomics Master Program on-site/in presence teaching for the winter semester 2022-2023. The students are therefore expected to be in Kiel on time for the beginning of the semester.

Start of Studies at Kiel University

Lectures in the Winter Semester 2022-2023 starts on 17th of October 2022.

The information and welcome event for the new students will be announced later by e-mail.

German Language Courses

In order to participate in our evening German classes, candidates must register online some weeks before the beginning of the semester. Registration period for the summer semester is 15 February until 15 March and for the winter semester 15 August until 15 September. Online registration and the necessary placement test for candidates with previous knowledge of German will only work on computers with a Windows operating system. Please register via the following website:

<http://www.lektorat-daf.uni-kiel.de/en>

Here please click on „Registration portal“. Participation in the courses without registration in due time is not possible.
