Vigilance Awareness among the Locals

Corruption is a pervasive global issue with far-reaching consequences for societies and economies. It involves them to use power, often for personal gain, and encompasses a wide range of dishonest and illegal activities. Corruption has profound economic, social, and political implications. It hampers economic growth, distorts fair competition, and undermines the rule of law. Weak governance, lack of transparency, and socioeconomic factors are among the primary drivers of corruption.

To take a small step to prevent corruption and to step forward in making India free from corruption we went to Panchayat of Wagnaghat where we talked with the secretary of Panchayat and asked him to not promote Corruption and if someone tries to bribe them then they may take strict actions and can explain them . And we also promoted the idea that the people sitting at the high posts refuse to take bribe and promote corruption then it would definitely be a great step towards stopping it, and they would act as role models for the people working under them.
